

IENE Awards 2014

Dear IENE members!

We intend to continue the tradition of IENE Awards which we started at the IENE International Conference in 2010.

The IENE Award will appreciate outstanding efforts made to reduce the detrimental effect on nature and enhance the positive influences caused by the construction, use and maintenance of transport infrastructure. Such efforts may include, for example, impact assessments, mitigation plans or technical measures at local, regional or national scale; research achievements, information, education or promotion activities.

IENE awards are given in two variants:

- 1) the IENE Personal Award, which appreciates outstanding engagement and special achievements made by individuals
- 2) the IENE Project Award, which appreciates extraordinary work accomplished by initiatives, activities or plans.

All IENE members are entitled to make nominations for both IENE awards, regardless of their personal involvement in a particular project/initiative. Proposals from former years are welcome to be resubmitted. The nominations for the Personal Award and the Project Award should be described separately.

Nominations must include a short but informative motivation (max. 2-3 pages) together with, if applicable, reports, pictures, maps or other detailed supportive information.

The motivation for the IENE Personal Award must provide answers to:

Who demonstrated outstanding personal engagement, when, whereby and how?
Why should this particular person be recognised by an IENE award?

The motivation for the IENE Project Award must provide answers to:

What is the problem/impact of concern that lead to the mitigation project?
What solutions (technical and/or methodological) have been employed?
What is special/new/innovative with these solutions?
How is the efficacy of the solutions evaluated and their success verified?
How is the project documented and are reports published?
Why should just this particular project or initiative be recognised by an IENE award?

Nominations will be evaluated by the IENE Steering Committee. Winning nominations will be presented and awarded during IENE International Conferences, IENE Workshops or IENE General Assemblies. At present, the IENE Award comprises a public recognition only and does not include any grants or scholarships.

We encourage all IENE members to send their nominations by e-mail to info@iene.info until April 28, 2014 !

On behalf of the IENE steering committee,

Elke Hahn
